Hour Crisis: Scheduling & Retail Worker Organizing in Los Angeles

OCTOBER 24TH | 12 TO 2 PM | 6275 BUNCHE, UCLA

Los Angeles retail workers struggle with unreliable hours and unpredictable schedules that undercut their incomes and chances of living full and healthy lives. Recently, workers have come together to demand a fair workweek and pass local and state ordinances for advanced schedule notice and guaranteed hours.

Come hear organizers, industry experts, and academics share their perspectives on historic campaigns, current policy initiatives, and research conducted by the UCLA Labor Center and LAANE.

SPECIAL GUEST:
Lane Windham, Associate Director, Georgetown University’s Kalmanovitz Initiative for Labor and the Working Poor & Author of ‘Knocking on Labor’s Door’

PANELISTS:
Janna Shadduck-Hernández, Project Director, UCLA Labor Center
Preeti Sharma, PhD Candidate, UCLA Gender Studies & Researcher, UCLA Labor Center
Nelson Motto, Director, Fair Workweek Los Angeles Coalition

MODERATOR:
Toby Higbie, Professor, UCLA Department of History