II. Program Information

A. Program Requirements - Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) in Gender Studies

Note that all graduate study at UCLA is governed by the policies and procedures as determined by the UCLA Graduate Division. You will want to familiarize yourself with the “Standards and Procedures for Graduate Study” Handbook available on their web site at http://www.gdnet.ucla.edu/ under “Publications”.

Advising

The Graduate Coordinator provides assistance and general information about policies and procedures, funding opportunities and resources. In addition, entering graduate students have two faculty advisors as they begin their studies, the Vice Chair (Mishuana Goeman), and an assigned temporary faculty advisor to assist in research planning and other substantive decisions. After year one, students may change faculty advisors at any time, but all advisors must be Gender Studies faculty. Any exceptions must go to the Chair for approval. Students must inform the graduate coordinator about any changes in faculty advisor.

Course Requirements

Doctoral students are required to complete 60 units of substantive coursework for the Ph.D. degree.

TOTAL: 60 Units

Required courses include:

- 16 units of Gender Studies core courses: 201, 202, 203, 210
- 44 units of electives, none of which can be GS 375, GS 495, GS 500-level courses (of the 40 units, 8 of these may be upper division undergraduate courses).

Please Note:

- Students are expected to be full time and enroll in 12 units per quarter. Up to four of these units may be from the 500-level series (independent study or exam preparation) upon approval of a faculty member. 500 level courses do not count toward degree required units.
- Grading Basis Policy. Only courses taken for a letter grade will be counted toward credit requirements (60 units). Students are strongly discouraged from taking graduate seminars on a P/NP grading basis, particularly if they are courses that are central to the Gender Studies degree.
- Teaching assistants should enroll in Gender Studies 375 each quarter they hold a teaching appointment. These units will not count toward the degree requirements, but may be part of a 12-unit full-time course load.
- Students may enroll in up to 12 units of 599 (dissertation research) per quarter while completing their dissertation.
Qualifying Examinations

Before embarking on the dissertation, Ph.D. students must pass two written and one oral examination. The written exams test the candidate’s understanding of Gender Studies as a discipline (a “breadth” requirement) and of her/his major field (a “depth” requirement). The oral examination is a defense of the candidate’s dissertation proposal. No oral defense of the completed dissertation is required.

Pre-qualifying Written Exams

Breadth Exam

The first written exam tests basic knowledge and understanding of the field of Gender Studies – including feminist theory, current and historical debates within the field, methodological and pedagogical issues -- and is taken after completion of the core course series (GS 201, 202, 203, 210):

- One 20-page paper that shows your critical and analytical skills and integrates material from the core sequence (201, 202, 210). The deadline for the breadth exam paper is the first day of fall quarter of the student’s 2nd year.

A meeting with the core instructors will be arranged for the first year cohort in spring quarter to prepare for this exam paper.

The breadth exam is graded by at least two faculty, as designated by the Chair and Vice Chair. Evaluating faculty members must find the exam satisfactory in order for the student to pass. All students must pass this exam before being allowed to advance in the Ph.D.

MA en route to Ph.D. Degree

Students in the Ph.D. program have the option to receive an M.A. degree (en route to the Ph.D.) after they have completed the core course requirements plus elective course units for a total of 40 units (16 core and 24 elective units), passed the first qualifying examination, and submitted a 20-page paper, ordinarily one written for a core course, that demonstrates independent thinking and critical and analytical skills. This option is available only to students with a degree objective of Ph.D. The paper will be evaluated by the student’s adviser and either the Chair or the Vice Chair (or designee) of Gender Studies.

Depth Exam

The depth exam covers the student’s major field, and is designed by the faculty advisor with the assistance of other faculty as appropriate. It may be taken at any time after successful completion of the breadth exam and the minimum course requirements. The depth exam format is one-week take-home. The completed exam must be judged satisfactory by both the student’s advisor and the Graduate Chair (or designee). Students may retake this exam only by petition. This exam is facilitated by the Graduate Coordinator, and questions are sent by email at a date and time set by the student with the Graduate Coordinator. All students must pass this exam before being allowed to advance in the Ph.D.

Qualifying Oral Exams

The oral qualifying exam is scheduled by the student only after: (1) passing both written pre-qualifying exams; (2) completing all coursework; (3) completing the dissertation proposal, subject to acceptance by the student’s faculty advisor; and (4) appointment of a doctoral committee in accordance with University regulations; see the Graduate Division website at: http://www.gdnet.ucla.edu/

The doctoral committee administers the exam, which takes on average two hours. Please note the following:

1) Exams should not be scheduled until a draft of the prospectus has been submitted to the committee chair(s) for initial review. Once the chair has signed off on the draft, the exam can be scheduled.

2) A draft of the proposal should be circulated to the full committee no less than four weeks prior to the exam. The final version of the proposal should be circulated at least two weeks of the exam.

The members of the doctoral committee are chosen by the student in consultation with the faculty advisor, and subject to approval of the Chair. The committee must be comprised of the student’s advisor, two other Gender Studies faculty, and one outside faculty member whose academic expertise relates to the dissertation topic. After successful completion of the oral defense, one of the two Gender Studies faculty members may be excused from the committee, and the remaining members (designated the “certifying members”) become the candidate’s dissertation committee. All students must pass this exam in order to advance to candidacy.

Students may retake the oral qualifying examination once without petition. Advancement to candidacy is dependent on successful completion of the oral qualifying exam. For additional information on UCLA policy for graduate students, see “Standards and Procedures for Graduate Study at UCLA” http://www.gdnet.ucla.edu/gasaa/library/spfgs.pdf

Dissertation

Ph.D. candidates must satisfy the dissertation requirement with a dissertation prepared under the supervision of an advisor in the Gender Studies Graduate Program and approved by at least three certifying members. An oral defense is not required unless a committee member (or the student) requests it.
B. COURSE INFORMATION

Students are required to complete GS 201, 202, 203 and 210 in their first year. The academic quarter is 10 weeks long and each class is worth four units of credit. Below are synopses of Gender Studies Courses.

Required Gender Studies Courses:

GS 201 Feminist Knowledge Production: Early/Modern
(4 units)
This course examines early and modernist feminists theories and epistemologies in the context of global flows of people, ideas and goods and in diverse socioeconomic settings. Includes an examination of varied forms of feminist knowledge production and multicultural critiques of theories of modernity. May be repeated for credit with topic or instructor change.

GS 202 Multicultural Feminist Knowledge Production: Contemporary
(4 units)
Course examines contemporary multicultural and transnational feminist knowledge production within the contexts of globalization, neo-colonialism, diaspora, exile, and dislocation. Concentration on feminist debates on modernism, postmodernism, cultural and critical race studies, postcolonial theories, sexuality and queer studies. May be repeated for credit with topic or instructor change.

GS 203 Research Methods in Studies of Women and Gender
(4 units)
Topics include advanced critique of sexist research methods, models of inclusion of women in research and theory, nonsexist research methods from conception through interpretation, what constitutes "feminist" research, inclusiveness and attention to diversity issues, appropriate frameworks in comparative research. Supplements disciplinary offerings on research methods.

GS 210 Topics in Women and Public Policy
(4 units)
Introduction to background, decision-making processes, and current debates over public policy directly affecting women in one or more major spheres of public life (e.g., work, family, political system, health care, legal regulation). Topics may focus on public health, political science, medicine, workplace studies, or social welfare. May be repeated for credit with topic or instructor change.

Required prior to Teaching Appointment (Offered in Spring):

GS 495 Feminist Pedagogies
(2 units)
This course is required in spring for first year students who will TA in year two. Seminar, two hours. Preparation for appointment as teaching assistant in department. Introduction to feminist methods of teaching, with emphasis on reciprocity and dialogue and de-emphasis on hierarchy. Required of students while serving as teaching assistants (first time only) in undergraduate gender studies courses. May be repeated for credit. S/U grading.
Elective Courses:

See the UCLA General Catalog for a complete list of Gender Studies Elective Courses:
http://www.registrar.ucla.edu/catalog/

Independent Study (500-Level Courses):

GS 596 Directed Individual Study or Research.
(2 to 12 units)
Tutorial to be arranged. Requisites: courses 201, 202, 210; or permission of the Chair. Directed individual research and study in area related to Gender studies/gender studies, arranged individually by student with instructor. May be repeated for credit. S/U or letter grading.

GS 597 Preparation for Ph.D. Qualifying Examinations.
(2 to 12 units)
Tutorial, eight hours. Limited to graduate Gender studies students. Reading and preparation for written M.A. comprehensive examination or Ph.D. qualifying field examinations. May be repeated for a maximum of 12 units. S/U grading.

GS 599 Research for Ph.D. Dissertation.
(2 to 12 units)

C. GRADUATE TRANSFER OF CREDIT

Courses from previously completed graduate programs cannot count toward your doctoral degree, however, courses from a graduate program where a degree was not awarded may be considered for credit for up to 8 elective units. On the approval of the Vice Chair, fill out a "Student Petition", return it to the Graduate Coordinator, together with transcripts, syllabus (and/or brief description of the course(s) you wish to transfer) for approval.

D. CHANGE OF RESIDENCY

Students coming to UCLA from other states are considered "non-residents" during their first year. After that, you may be considered a full-time permanent resident, but you will need to change your official residence status for tuition purposes. For information on processing your change of residency and how to establish intent to become a California resident, go to this website: http://www.registrar.ucla.edu/faq/residence.htm

G. COMPLAINT PROCEDURES

Students may lodge informal or formal complaints with the Chair or Vice Chair

1) Informal complaints need not be in writing. Chair or Vice Chair will attempt to resolve informal complaints.

2) If no resolution satisfactory to the complainant is reached within a reasonable time, the complainant may lodge a formal complaint with the Graduate Chair. (A formal complaint may also be lodged first, without attempting informal resolution.) The formal complaint process must be in writing, and should contain a statement of the problem, identification of all participants and witnesses and a request for appropriate relief (e.g. change in grade, change in committee members, etc). Accompanying documentation, if available, should be attached.

3) The Vice Chair will assure that all relevant information is contained in the complaint, and will request investigation by the GS Chair, who will investigate the complaint and report her findings to the Vice Chair and the complainant within 30 days, unless extension is requested for additional investigation. The findings may include suggestion of appropriate relief.

4) Appeal Process: If the formal complaint process is unsatisfactory, students may appeal to the Department of Gender Studies Faculty for consideration at its next regularly scheduled meeting. If no meeting is scheduled within a reasonable time, a special meeting will be called to consider the appeal.

5) The student may also use University procedures instead of the Gender Studies process. The Campus Ombuds officer and staff (at 105 Strathmore, (310)825-7627) can advise and refer students to offices and procedures appropriate to the type of complaint.

H. BUSINESS CARDS

Students can order business cards with the UCLA logo for a nominal fee. Please see Richard Medrano for ordering information.
II. GRADUATE FELLOWSHIPS AND FUNDING OPPORTUNITIES

Be sure to sign up for the UCLA Graduate Division Fellowship Listserv, for important announcements regarding information and deadlines for fellowships offered both outside the University and through the UCLA Graduate Division. You can link to the subscription page from the Graduate Division Financial Support page at:

http://www.gdnet.ucla.edu/asis/stusup/index.html

Another key resource is the Graduate Division published handbook “Graduate Support for Continuing Students.” Go to the website above for a PDF version of this handbook, or contact the UCLA Graduate Division or the Graduate Coordinator to obtain a hardcopy.

The Center for the Study of Women has a number of Graduate Awards. Please review the listings on their website for Graduate Funding Opportunities. Note that most deadlines are in Winter and Spring, however, Travel Grant application deadlines are twice a year in October and April:

http://www.csw.ucla.edu/gfunding.html

For more information, contact the UCLA Graduate Division or the Department of Gender Studies for the booklet entitled “Graduate Support for Continuing Students.” Additional information about financial support, including other funding databases, information about grants and the graduate fellowship LISTSERVE, can be found at:

http://www.gdnet.ucla.edu/asis/stusup/index.html

In addition, you will receive periodic emails from the Graduate Coordinator when announcements come through the Gender Studies office for outside Fellowships and Awards.

Stipends and fellowships will be paid through the Graduate Division and you will receive an “Offer of Graduate Student Support” for acceptance of these funds, which you should receive by email to sign and return to the Graduate Division. You must be enrolled in at least 12 units to be eligible to receive these funds and you must be fully enrolled by the second week of class.

Gender Studies offers you a travel/research stipend for research expenses and/or conference (or research) travel in the amount of $400 per quarter. While the funds will be automatically paid out at the start of each quarter, an itemized budget will be requested in your 2012-13 progress report listing the use of these funds for the year (Progress Reports are requested at the end of Winter quarter). Subsequent travel/research awards will be contingent on reporting how these funds were spent. This stipend will be paid via an “Offer of Graduate Student Support” as described above. Funding in 2013-14 is contingent on timely progress to degree.

- You will receive at least one visit to your class by your supervising faculty member to give you feedback on and to evaluate your teaching. You may choose to invite the TAC to attend your section to provide you with feedback on your teaching.

- If your faculty member offers you the option of presenting one of the lectures, you may do so but are not required to.

- Please note that, a Teaching Assistant with a 50% appointment shall not be assigned a workload of more than 220 hours per quarter. In addition, a Teaching Assistant with an appointment of 50% or less shall not be assigned a workload of more than 40 hours in any one week or assigned to work more than eight (8) hours in any one day. The number of hours worked in excess of twenty (20) hours per week may not total more than 50 hours per quarter. This appointment is evaluated on a quarter by quarter basis.
II. GENERAL INFORMATION

Much of the general information you will need to begin study at UCLA can be found in the Orientation materials provided by UCLA's Graduate Division and through UCLA's various online resources. B. REGISTRATION FOR CLASSES

1) The Schedule of Classes is available beginning in June. You may register for classes using the University Records System Access (URSA) online or by telephone. Access is authorized through your nine-digit UCLA identification number and a four digit security code which you received with your letter of admission.
2) Each quarter you will be given an URSA enrollment appointment date at which point you may sign up for classes.

3) To avoid late fees and preserve your fellowship funding, you MUST be fully enrolled in 12 units by the end of the second full week of the Fall Quarter. We recommend that you enroll prior to this date, however, because some courses do get filled.

4) You may enroll in most courses directly, but some require permission to enroll (PTE), numbers to register. These may be obtained from the instructor and/or the department which offers the course.

5) Students are expected to enroll in three courses, or 12 units per quarter, to be counted for full-time status. Teaching Assistants (T.A.’s) should enroll in WS 375 as well. Please see Samantha Hogan for PTE numbers.

6) For more information regarding what courses to take, please review the requirements for your degree and consult with your advisor.

C. UNIVERSITY RECORDS SYSTEM ACCESS (URSA)

The University Records System Access (URSA) is not only used for enrollment in classes, but also provides real-time access to academic, financial and personal records. To access URSA Online, use: http://www.ursa.ucla.edu

D. BRUIN CARD

The Bruin card is a mandatory Student ID card and library card. Cards are issued free of charge to new students. Photo ID is required.

123 Kerckhoff Hall: (310) 825-2336

E. BAR ACCOUNT AND BRUIN DIRECT

Your Billing and Receivables System, or BAR Statement, is your bill for registration fees and other University charges. Bruin Direct is the electronic deposit of funds (financial aid, fellowships, etc.) into your personal bank account. To enroll in this program, submit the authorization form you received with your admission materials, or pick up a form from the Registrar.
F. Bruin Online (BOL) Accounts

Bruin Online is a set of services available to UCLA students which includes, but is not limited to, a UCLA e-mail address. For additional information about establishing an account, see: http://www.bol.ucla.edu

G. Parking & Transportation

Complete parking information and online applications are available at: http://www.transportation.ucla.edu/index.htm. Parking is assigned on a need-based point system.

For information student parking applications, go to: https://www.transportation.ucla.edu/appmain.htm

For information about free walking escorts on campus and the immediate outlying area, call (310) 794-WALK.

H. Bookstore & Textbooks

Most textbooks can be purchased at Bookzone, which is located in Ackerman Union. Textbook lists for courses are available through URSA Online. Please note that there are strict deadlines for returning books for refunds at the beginning of each quarter.

I. Recreation Center

Information about classes and facilities available for students can be found at: http://www.recreation.ucla.edu.
J. Library Information

A map of campus libraries and information about hours of service are available at http://www.library.ucla.edu. The following is a listing of the campus libraries; for more helpful information, please contact Diana King, Gender Studies Librarian, at (310)106-4823 or diking@library.ucla.edu

K. Graduate Quarterly

The Graduate Quarterly is a magazine published by the Graduate Division in the Fall, Winter and Spring. It contains articles and information of interest to UCLA graduate students. http://www.gdnet.ucla.edu/asis/library/gqintro.htm

L. UCLA Center for the Study of Women

The UCLA Center for the Study of Women (CSW) is a nationally recognized center for research on women and gender. Established in 1984, it draws on the energies of over 200 faculty from 10 UCLA professional schools and 34 departments. By bringing together scholars with similar interests, CSW has played an important role in the intellectual life of UCLA. Through its conferences, seminars and administration of grants, CSW has enabled feminist scholars to exchange ideas and secure funding. CSW works in conjunction with Gender Studies to develop curriculum and promote feminist learning among both undergraduate and graduate students. Together, the Center for the Study of Women and the Department of Gender Studies constitute an important platform for gender concerns in Southern California. The UCLA Center for the Study of Women contributes to the advancement of women by expanding and sharing knowledge. We encourage you to sign up on the CSW mailing list, please visit CSW on the web at: http://www.csw.ucla.edu, or in person at 1500 Public Affairs.
M. LESBIAN, GAY, BISEXUAL, TRANSGENDER CAMPUS RESOURCE CENTER

The UCLA Lesbian Gay Bisexual Transgender (LGBT) Campus Resource Center provides a comprehensive range of education, information and advocacy services, and works to create and maintain an open, safe and inclusive environment for lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer, questioning, and same-gender-loving students, faculty, and staff, their families and friends, and the entire campus community.

The LGBT Center offers a variety of support groups, a common gathering space, crisis intervention, and consultation with individuals and groups. They house a growing library with over 1200 books as well as referral guides, scholarship materials, and housing and job information, and provide classroom education and faculty, staff, and department presentations as well as a campus-wide Safe Zones training.

For further information or to access the calendar of events, please go to the LGBT website at www.lgbt.ucla.edu or call or e-mail (310) 206-3628, lgbt@ucla.edu.

N. GRADUATE STUDENT RESOURCE CENTER

The UCLA Graduate Student Resource Center (GSRC) is a Graduate Students Association (GSA) initiative that is managed by Student Affairs. The GSRC is a one-stop resource, referral and information center for graduate students, offering programs and workshops on a variety of topics, drop-in counseling, a web and in-house resource library, meeting and study space, and the opportunity for social interaction. The GSRC works with GSA to organize the New Graduate Student Orientation each fall. The Graduate Student Resource Center is also the home of the new Graduate Writing Center; they are located in B11 of the new Student Activities Center (formerly the Men’s Gym).

O. NATIONAL WOMEN’S STUDIES ASSOCIATION

Any interested Gender Studies graduate students may receive one year of departmentally funded membership to the NWSA. To become a member, please visit the NWSA website and complete the on-line application for membership. Completed applications should be turned in to Van DoNguyen, Senior Financial Analyst in 2220 Rolfe Hall, for processing and payment.

NWSA Mission

The National Women’s Studies Association (NWSA) was founded in 1977 to further the development of Women’s and Gender Studies throughout the world at every educational level and in every setting. To this end, the organization is committed to being a forum fostering dialogue and collective action among women who are dedicated to feminist education and change.

Please visit their website to learn more about the NWSA, their conferences, scholarships and publications:

Q. STUDENT GROUPS

UCLA annually registers close to 700 Student Organizations. Every organization registered with the Center for Student Programming (CSP) is eligible to receive a website and an email address. Most importantly, all registered organizations are eligible to apply for special university funding which may be used to bring speakers to campus, sponsor conferences and even contribute to commencement celebration costs.

R. GENDER STUDIES GRADUATE STUDENT COUNCIL

By virtue of being admitted to the doctoral program in Gender studies, you are automatically a member of the GS Graduate Student Council. The Council selects a representative each year to attend Faculty Departmental meetings and report back to the students, and may also propose representatives for other committees and subcommittees. Meetings and activities of the Council are decided on by the members themselves, and can be facilitated by the Graduate Coordinator. We encourage the Council to become involved in WS and campus activities, to sponsor or co-sponsor events, and to serve as a conduit for suggestions to improve the educational experience of our students.
